

reformer in the sense in which that term is used by the Republicans of the West.

Hughes and Campaign Gifts.
"As an evidence that Mr. Hughes is not in sympathy with Western reformers, you will recall that he vetoed a 2-cent passenger rate bill, and he did this, in spite of the fact that a Republican Legislature of New York passed the bill. The Governors in the Western States signed this bill, and are now enjoying the benefits of the 2-cent fare. New York is more thickly settled than the Western States, and yet he gave the benefit of the doubt to the railroads in their contest with the Western States. It is not surprising that he did this because of the contributions made to his campaign fund by Morgan, Depew, the Vanderbilts and one of the Goulds. It is not necessary to assume that these contributions had any effect upon his action. It is enough to know that he did not act upon this subject as Republican Governors in the West acted, and I care not what explanation his friends may make. If they say that he decided in favor of the railroads without any reference to the contributions made by the railroads, it simply shows that he looks at questions from the standpoint of the railroad, rather than from the standpoint of the people."

"If he had signed the bill the railroads could have protected themselves by recourse to the courts, but when he vetoed the bill the people had no recourse."

"It is not strange that he should oppose the Democratic remedy, or that he should have never shown any interest in the correction of the evils that the trusts have brought upon the country. I will not say that this partiality for the trusts is due to the contributions made to his campaign fund by Carnegie, Havemeyer, Duke, and others. It is not necessary to assume that these contributions influenced him at all. It may be his natural disposition to take the side of the trusts as against the people. His speech proves that he is not necessary to conviction of the lack of sympathy with the general public."

No Concern for People.
"Does he manifest any concern about the wrong done to the people by the trusts? Not the least. Has he any remedy? None whatever. With him it is a subject of amusement; it is really too funny for anything to think that anybody should try to do anything. If you will read his speech on this subject you will agree with me when I liken the situation to the case of a sick man who is about to try a remedy proposed by a physician. Dr. Hughes comes in and says:

"What are you going to take that remedy? Why, that is ridiculous; that is absurd," and then retires from the room laughing and leaving the patient without a remedy and without a suggestion. Now, if the patient is not really sick, that might be excusable; but what do you think about it? Is the patient sick or not? If the trusts are doing no harm, then, of course, no remedy is needed. If the trusts are doing harm, then why does not Mr. Hughes propose something?"

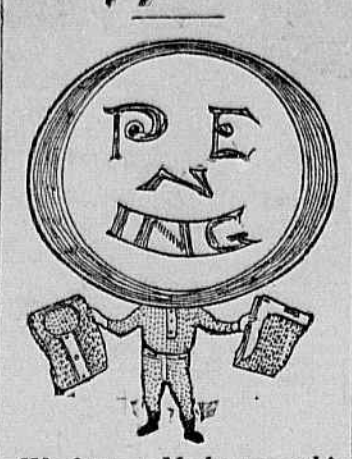

"He takes the case of a patent and says our plan would interfere with patients. What is Mr. Hughes trying to do? Is he deceived himself, or is he simply trying to deceive those who listen to him? Our antitrust plank has nothing to do with patents. The patent is intended to be a monopoly, and our reference to a monopoly is another part of the platform is sufficient proof that the convention had no intention of including the patent in the operation of an antitrust law. I explained this same thing when the objection was first made, but the objection was so silly that I did not suppose that it would be made by any one with any sense of responsibility. Does Mr. Hughes really think that our antitrust plank was intended to apply to a patent, or is he so hard pressed for arguments that he must use that argument anyhow? A patent grants a monopoly for a limited time as a reward for an invention. The trusts that we are opposed to have not invented anything, and they acknowledge no limit as to time."

"The trusts attempt to corner the market, and this not only is against the statute law, but it is an offense against the common law and an offense against moral law. Mr. Hughes does not seem to be so obtuse as to not understand the distinction between the trust that we are fighting and abuse that is protected by a patent."

The Fifty Per Cent. Limit.
"But let us take the 50 per cent. limit, which he regards as unscientific. The plan which we propose will apply first to corporations which have not reached the 50 per cent. limit, and to corporations which have already reached that limit. Corporations which have not yet reached that limit would simply stop expanding when the limit is reached, and that would entail no hardship upon them, and it would not be difficult to apply it to corporations which have reached the 50 per cent. limit. Laws do not take effect immediately upon their passage."

"There is always a time between the time of enactment and the date when the laws take effect. When a law involves a material change in conditions, a sufficient time is given for necessary readjustments. The first question to be decided is, how large a proportion of the entire product should one corporation be permitted to control? Mr. Hughes takes for his criterion the case of a corporation which controls the entire production, and as he expresses no fear of such a corporation doing harm, we have a right to suppose that he has no objection to one corporation controlling all the product; but if I mistake not the sentiment of the public, there is a very general objection on the part of the people to the principle of monopoly. They have a right to set a limit to the control which a corporation can exercise over the product in which it deals. If the limit which we fix of 50 per cent is too low, Mr. Hughes ought to suggest a higher limit; but when he suggests no limit whatever, we must assume that he does not regard the proportion controlled as at all material; and if he does not, then his opinion on the trust question ought not to have much weight with those who do not believe that a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. If Mr. Hughes agrees with the trust magnate that a trust is a blessing, I need not discuss remedies with him at all, because a blessing does not require a remedy. If he will admit that a private monopoly is bad, and present a remedy, I shall be glad to consider his remedy and compare it with ours."

BRYAN GOES TO DENVER

After Touring Nebraska He Will Speak in Convention Hall.

CHICAGO, ILL., October 12.—After a three days' tour of Nebraska, W. J. Bryan will leave next Thursday night for Denver, where he will speak the following day in the convention hall. Mr. Bryan's itinerary for the next seven days, given out by National Chairman Mack to-day, calls for only three big speeches by the candidate. After the Denver meeting, Mr. Bryan will speak in Omaha on October 17th, and in Chicago on October 19th. He will rest next Sunday in Lincoln. The itinerary for the following week has not been made known.

Mr. Mack said to-day that the campaign list showed contributions to the number of nearly 25,000 from a dollar up. The chairman said the total fund would be about $250,000, as already has been made known. The names of the individual contributors of $100 will be given by Herman Kauder, the committee's treasurer, either Wednesday or Thursday. The list of contributors of sums of $50 and upward has already been made public.

Former Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia will answer Governor Hughes's speech here charging that Bryan is an unsafe man in a speech to-morrow to the students of the University of Nebraska, at Lincoln.

TO SPEAK FOR BRYAN

Senator Clark Thinks His Election Will Benefit the Country.

CHICAGO, ILL., October 12.—Asserting that the business interests of the country would be benefited by the election of William J. Bryan, former Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, to-night said that he would take the stump and aid in every way possible to bring about the election of the Democratic candidate. Mr. Clark called at Democratic headquarters to-day and conferred with National Chairman Mack. Mr. Clark said:

"Mr. Bryan is making a most remarkable campaign, and I believe his chances are far better than were those in any of his previous contests. He has behind him a truly united Democratic Party. To the most foolish thing about this campaign is the prediction of the opponents of Mr. Bryan that the election of the Democratic candidate would injure business prospects and bring about a panic. It will do nothing of the kind. Mr. Bryan is a man of business, and he has a right to be so. I have investments in the country, and I have no objection to his being elected. I have investments in the country, and I have no objection to his being elected."

COULD CARRY GEORGIA IF HAD SPEAKERS AND MONEY

LOGANSPORT, IND., October 12.—"If we had twenty-five speakers and $10,000 we could carry Georgia at this election," said Eugene W. Chaffin, Prohibition candidate for President, here to-night.

"The party that is defeated will go to smash and drop out of existence. The only real issue in the campaign is prohibition. There is no power on earth that can prevent the Prohibition party from electing a President in 1912."

Duncan to Accompany Taft.

NEW YORK, October 12.—Chairman Hitchcock, of the Republican National Committee, announced to-night that E. C. "We shall adhere strictly to the principle of noninterference," he said. "We desire to see the new era in Turkey for the removal of equivocal conditions between us and Turkey, and will smooth the way for the strengthening of friendly relations. The news we have received from Constantinople warrants the assumption that our intentions are being construed in this spirit."

OVATION TO FERDINAND

Care of the Bulgarians Given Royal Welcome at Sofia.

SOFIA, October 12.—Prince Ferdinand entered the city to-day as "Czar of the Bulgarians," and was given an enthusiastic reception by the whole population. His entry was originally planned for Sunday, but it was deferred for a day in the hope that some power would break the ice of international formality by some mark of recognition.

International formalities, however, which prevented official recognition did not put a damper upon the popular jubilation. The entire town turned out to witness the entry of the Czar and packed all the streets leading to the ancient Constantinople road by which the ruler reached the capital. A double line of soldiers restrained the masses along the route.

AN M. D. ON KIDNEY DISEASE.

Writing on kidney disease, the medical term for which is Nephritis, Dr. J. W. Chismond says in the "MEDICAL BRIEF":

"In its ineluctability it is as curable as any malady that the system is heir to." "IN ITS SECONDARY STAGE WE POSSESS NO SPECIFIC FOR ITS RAVAGES."

Where does that leave the kidney medicines you have been taking? And just as we have said over and over, it doesn't make much difference what you call kidney trouble, if it fastens, physicians and druggists have had no successful treatment for it. True, it commonly gets well at first, but if it does not, it enters the second stage that was incurable up to the discovery of Fulton's Renal Compound, which is the first thing known to reduce inflammation in kidney tissues.

When does that second stage commence? Dr. Chismond says: "IT DEVELOPS SO UNCONSCIOUSLY IT IS AS A RULE FAR ADVANCED BEFORE IT IS DISCOVERED."

In view of these acknowledged facts, people with kidney trouble should do some very serious thinking before taking futile kidney medicines under which the kidney deaths have risen to over 170 per day. Even if the inflammation is in the first stage, a course of futile medicine is delay that develops the very condition that Dr. Chismond says is "irreparable," and that was irreparable up to the date of Fulton's beneficial discovery.

If you have kidney trouble, either starting or seated, how can there be any question about your taking the only known specific for inflammation of the kidneys, which, incipient or chronic, is the real difficulty with kidney trouble people.

GOOD PROGRESS IN FOREIGN MISSIONS

Gratifying Report Made to International Conference of the Churches of Christ.

NEW ORLEANS, October 12.—Foreign missions to-day received the almost undivided attention of the International Missionary Conference of the Churches of Christ. Mission study classes reports and addresses filled a busy program of fully ten hours.

A. E. McLean, of Cincinnati, president of the Foreign Missionary Society, prefaced the annual reports of that body by the following summary: "This society represents the people known as 'Christians' or 'Disciples of Christ.' Its agents are found in twelve different countries. This society has 154 American missionaries in its employment, and 410 native evangelists, teachers and helpers. Last year its medical missionaries treated 9,000 patients. The society maintains forty schools and colleges. The attendance at these last year was 3,388. In ten years the receipts have been more than doubled."

Following Mr. McLean's remarks the annual report of the society was presented. It says:

"Gains have been made all along the line this year, save in that of financial income. The hard times caused receipts to fall below those of last year when they reached $355,000. The largest number of new missionaries ever sent out by the society sailed this year, in all twenty-four. They went to China, India, Africa, Tibet, the Philippines and Japan."

"At Bolong, Africa, in the Congo Free State, we now have a church of nearly 500 members. A Sunday school of more than 1,000, and the largest Christian Endeavor Society in the world, with 400 members. The contributions of this church for missionary

"In the Philippine Islands nearly 1,000 have been baptized during the year. In China the mission schools are beset by applicants for admission, and the hospitals by patients for treatment. One of our hospitals in China treated 2,000 patients this year. All of these patients are taught concerning Christianity."

"During this year the society sold more than 5,000 missionary books and organized about 400 mission study classes. Its workers, located in all the great mission fields, number nearly 600."

HELD FOR HER MURDER

Orle Lee Hurler and Her Lover Langguishes in Jail.

WASWORTH, O., October 12.—Orle Lee, the pretty factory girl, is dead and buried. Her sweetheart, Guy Rasor, is in jail. He will be arraigned in court to-morrow. The evidence is still probing, both for evidence and a motive.

The officials claim to have established evidence which will show that the hoof prints of the horse, near which the body was found, correspond with the condition of one of Rasor's horses. One shoe was missing. So far Rasor has not accounted for himself between the hour of 7 o'clock and 8:30 o'clock last Wednesday night, the time when the factory girl is supposed to have been shot. The motive set up by the officials is that a wedding several times postponed was the only legal means of saving the girl's honor, and the murder resulted to make the wedding unnecessary.

Against this the friends of Rasor argue that the hoof prints may have been a remarkable coincidence; that the wedding was set for last Saturday; that Rasor gleefully told many friends that he was to be married Saturday, and that he had the license to marry Miss Lee in his pocket when arrested.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., October 12.—A special from Milton, Fla., says:

Andrew Copeland was brought here from Berrydale, Fla., to-day and placed in jail charged with the murder of Lulla Dixon, a young girl of that place.

According to statements said to have been made by her parents, the girl, before her death, said she drank a glass of water Sunday, into which Copeland placed what he told her was quinine. She died shortly afterwards.

NORFOLK, VA., October 12.—The wrecking steamer Rescue returned to port to-day after an unsuccessful search for the British schooner Earl of Aberdeen, Captain Publicover, which is helpless somewhere off the Carolina coast with her rudder gone. The Aberdeen is fourteen days out from Turks Island with salt for Providence, R. I. The Rescue will probably return to sea to resume the search for the Aberdeen.

EUGENE DEBS TAKEN ILL; UNABLE TO MAKE SPEECH

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEWARK, N. J., October 12.—Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist party's candidate for President, was so ill when his "Red Special" reached Newark this afternoon that his engagement to speak at Military Park was canceled, and several thousand persons who had gone to the station to greet him were turned away without seeing him.

Debs was so ill that he was unable to speak at the meeting scheduled for to-night.

COOL WEATHER SENDS MANY POOR PEOPLE TO CHARITIES

With the coming of the first cool nights of fall the various charities of the city took on renewed activity, and yesterday and last night applications for a place to sleep and something to eat were more numerous than for many days. In nearly every case these seeking help were accompanied.

The officers of the different charitable institutions of the city expect from now on to be crowded with people who are out of work and have no home.

NEGRO LAWYER INDICTED FOR PRACTICING WITHOUT LICENSE

Indicted for practicing his profession in Henrico Magistrate's Court without a license, William J. Liggon, a negro lawyer, will appear in the Circuit Court to give account of the unwarranted privileges which he has enjoyed. The grand jury yesterday had his case up, finding that, although his pleadings before the magistrate had been very far between, there was a sure case against him. The only witness in sight thus far to testify against the lawyer is Paul Craft, whom Liggon recently defended on the charge of selling liquor in the county.

Other true bills found by the grand jury yesterday are: Frank Jackson, for maliciously wounding William Johnson, and John Garnett, for the theft of money from the store of Frederick Moss, of the Three Chop Row. These cases are set for trial on October 25th.

Two Arrested for Theft.

Thomas Brown (colored) was arrested last night on a charge of having stolen a lot of whiskey from Moschetti Brothers. Four quarts of the best whiskey were found in his possession. He could not explain how or where he got it.

CONJUNCTION OF PLANETS.

PITTSBURGH, PA., October 12.—Professor John A. Brashear, of this city, to-night sent the following statement to the Associated Press:

"To-morrow morning at 11 o'clock there will be a conjunction of the two bright planets, Jupiter and Venus. At this time the two planets will be so close together that both can be seen at once in the field of a telescope of any size, as also in the field of an opera or a field glass. Indeed they will only be about the diameter of the moon away from each other."

"They will be so near to their closest to-morrow morning and the following morning that those interested in such beautiful astronomical phenomena will be well repaid by getting out of bed any time between 4:30 A. M. and twilight."

"These two planets will be easily found a little south of the east, say at 5 A. M., about 30 degrees above the horizon, and those having windows facing the east need not go outside to see them gracing the southeastern sky. It is rarely we have such a close approach of these two beautiful planets, though occultations occur much more frequently than is supposed."
